

Stay at Home Virtual Training for these Challenging Times

The “Stay at Home” and “Social Distancing” directives that we find ourselves currently under does not mean that instructor-led training must also be halted. This situation provides a great opportunity to take advantage of Virtual Classroom (VC) training programs and remain in compliance with these challenging restrictions. VC courses allow learners to participate in a “live” instructor-led training program from the comfort of their homes using an Internet classroom.

VIAVI Solutions has many of our face-to-face training courses available for virtual delivery, and the list below provides some of our more popular options. However, in case you have training needs or interests that are not listed here, please contact us at the info below and we will check on availability.
